

Despite the fact that Lent, the season of rest and abstinence is upon us, the social life of the city continues with unabated energy. The week in review has been an almost ceaseless whirl of gay affairs, and pleasant memories of its sights and scenes will doubtless accompany many a fair devotee through her penitential forty days. The German, the other dancing parties, luncheons, dinners and receptions for out-of-town guests, have all claimed their share of attention, while the unusual attractions presented at the Theatre have been the occasion for numerous social parties there.

The week just opening offers less in every line, although some important events are to take place and many pleasant smaller gatherings will be recorded.

Coming Events.

Some very pleasant events are scheduled for the coming week. On Tuesday Mrs. A. C. Ewing will entertain about sixty guests at a high tea at 4 o'clock. The same evening Colonel and Mrs. Holmes give a musicale at the Melba Palace.

The second of the delightful hops at the post is to come off the same night, and it is safe to say that a large number of the young people of the city will be there.

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Warren C. Bogue will entertain at a card party. Mrs. R. G. Legg has invitations out for a large and elaborate card party on Thursday evening.

Friday, which is set apart for the patron saint of lovers, will witness several Valentine parties.

Mrs. Arthur D. Lynn gives a card party on that day.

Mrs. H. G. Twomey has invitations out for the same afternoon.

Engagement.

Mrs. Isabel M. Pitts announces the engagement of her daughter, Paralee K., to Mr. Arthur B. Witchee.

The German.

The gaiety of the past week was begun with the cotillion given last Monday evening for Major and Mrs. George F. Downey. The hall was beautifully decorated with flags and all military emblems, a handsome large flag crossing one end. The favors were nearly all either of military or Oriental significance and were the most elaborate ever used at an affair of the kind in the city. In the southwest corner, behind a screen of palms, Christensen's orchestra was stationed, while on the opposite corner were placed the favors ready for decorating the dancers. On the lower floor the rooms were fitted for the serving of refreshments, and the two tables used were beautifully decorated by Huddart. Here a delicious supper was served by Mrs. Walden. Eight figures were danced, the last being a flower figure, in which the favors were given to Mrs. Downey. The dances were led by Mr. Harry Shearman and Miss Maude Thorne. The favor table was in charge of Mrs. R. C. Woodruff, Miss Sprague, Miss Hanauer and Miss Kimball.

Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Edwell, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Caine, Mr. and Mrs. George K. Fischer, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Ferry, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Glendinning, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Kerr, Dr. and Mrs. Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Burns Mac-

Donald, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Park, Mr. and Mrs. Pfouts, Mr. and Mrs. V. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Salisbury, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Shaper, Mr. and Mrs. G. Y. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. George Westervelt, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Young; Mesdames Bancroft, Woodward, Hanauer, Harkness, Pfouts, Eldridge of Portland, Boyd, Baxter, Smedley Smith and Woodruff; the Misses Thorne, Kimball, Sprague, Hanauer, Sherman, Laura Sherman, Kanter, Rookledge, Bloch of St. Louis, D. Moore, Lindsay, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Shearman, Edna Shearman, McMillan, Cleary, Woodward, Nason, Marie Nason, Donnellan, Salisbury and Read; the Messrs. C. R. Aley, J. K. W. Bracken, T. Wicks, George Westervelt, J. R. Walker, J. H. Young.

Reception.

The reception on Thursday afternoon at the Fifth East hotel was one of the enjoyable and elaborate affairs of the week. The hostess of the day was Mrs. J. C. Royle, and the event was in honor of Mrs. Sarah Boggs of Pittsburgh. The whole north wing of the building was used for the guests, the large parlors and hall being artistically decorated in pink and deep rose color. Palms and potted plants formed an effective background for the brilliant hues of the gowns. The ladies assisting Mrs. Royle served at the refreshment tables, which were spread in the west rooms. In the main hall delicate music was furnished by the Anderson-Lamson quartette.

In the receiving party with Mrs. Royle were Mrs. Boggs and her hostess, Mrs. L. M. Bailey. Those assisting were the ladies of the Fifth East hotel, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Dinnity, Mrs. Terry, Mrs. Pearsall, Mrs. Cleaver, Mrs. Wakeling and Mrs. Akers. Besides these were Mrs. Charles Read, Mrs. T. B. Beatty and Mrs. George Ward, and the Misses Read, Salisbury, Williams.

The Assembly.

The last of the season's assembly balls was given on Tuesday evening. The music was considered the best of the season, and the dancing was much enjoyed. Punch was served throughout the evening, and delicious refreshments were spread in the supper room. Every one seemed to feel regret at the close of this series of delightful dancing parties. Among the dancers were: Governor and Mrs. H. M. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Salisbury, Dr. and Mrs. D. Moore, Lindsay, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Shearman, Edna Shearman, McMillan, Cleary, Woodward, Nason, Marie Nason, Donnellan, Salisbury and Read; the Messrs. C. R. Aley, J. K. W. Bracken, T. Ellis Browne, Dr. Critchlow, John Critchlow, J. T. Goodwin, George J. Gibson, M. S. Hanauer, R. F. Hayward, George Helms, Grant Hampton, A. F. Holden, F. Lyon, Burns Macdonald, Henry McCornick, George Nolan, Dr. Park, Sam Pendergast, G. M. Scott, Dick Sprague, Max Smith, Ben Smith, W. H. Shearman, J. W. Thompson, George Wallace, Jr., E. B. Wicks, George Westervelt, J. R. Walker, J. H. Young.

Miss Keogh, Miss Dooly, Miss Burke, Miss Adams, Miss Kimball.

Dinner Party.

Mrs. A. T. Vollmer entertained at a charming dinner party last Thursday evening. The table decorations were in pink and green, carnations and smilax being used effectively, while candelabra, shaded in the same tone, graced the table, around which were seated Dr. and Mrs. Hosmer, Judge and Mrs. Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Bogue, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Stephens.

Card Parties.

Mrs. T. R. Black was the hostess at a most delightful card party last Wednesday afternoon, and again in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Black entertained friends in the same way. The house decorations were beautiful, the hall being done entirely in green, the drawing room in pink and the dining room in deep rose color. Carnations, ferns and smilax were used most effectively. The prizes were won by Mrs. Barthel and Miss Elizabeth Dorn. The guests of the afternoon were:

Mesdames Frank Stephens, Richards, Fred Egan, Putnam, Hale, J. M. Moore, Jones, Williams, McCune, Luman, Rivers, Rathburn, Ross, Swanson, Josh Grant, Gridley, Gustin, W. S. Green, Peaslee, Priest, Park, Soules, Swan, Thome, Vigus, J. Young, E. N. Whitney, Germaine, Hoffman, Blatz, Barthel, Brink, Cole, Carpenter, Dale, Dunning, Dalby, Greeson, Misses Dorn, Gridley, Grace Swanson, Elizabeth Dorn, Grace Jacobs, Daisy Raybould.

At the evening party those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames Alris, Bantz, Boggs, Bowman, J. F. Bransford, H. W. Brown, Cole, John Dorn, George Dorn, Dole, Egan, Fred Egan, Evans, Fred Francis, Fanning, Gustin, Hoppough, Jacobs, R. E. McConahay, McMahon, Moore, L. T. Palmer, John Reed, Ed Richards, G. W. Shores, Stehl, Tripp, M. B. Whitney, Judge and Mrs. Dinnity, Dr. and Mrs. Burrows, Mrs. Miles, Dr. Luella Miles.

Red and Black.

The high school dancing party at Christensen's on Friday evening was one of the pleasantest and most successful of the season. The music was excellent, and the dancing was greatly enjoyed. This is the last of the winter parties, and all were alert to take advantage of it. Among those present were: Misses Pearl Weller, May Billings, Florence Stephenson, Vivian Little, Virgie Breeden, Gerlie Myers, Mary Young, Effie Greenstreet, Ivy Dix, Stella Kingsbury, Josephine Wells, May Jeremy, Carrie Goldbach, Pearl Van Cott, Lucy Gaby, Helen Shepard, Genevieve Clark, Anna Knowlton, Phebe Harding, Edith Lovther, Susie Sawyer, Nell Jermy, Emma Carter, Ethel Carter, June McIntyre, Marguerite Taylor, Olive McClain, Rosemary Gloss, Florence Dow, Edith Ireland, Lulu Keyting, Edna Hacker, Victor Collins, Messrs. B. Campbell, Serge Campbell, Frank Roberts, Lawrence Hem-

Afternoon Card Party.

An exceedingly pretty party was enjoyed by the guests of Mrs. O. W. Powers, celebrating the Chinese New Year, on Friday afternoon. The score cards were Chinese posters and the table cards dimmutive water colors of Chinese figures. The rooms were decorated with Chinese fans and Chinese lilies, and refreshments of bird's nest puddings, rats, mice and five crackers were most enthusiastically enjoyed and added much to the interest of the occasion. The originality of the hostess was subject to marked comment. Mrs. Woodward, Mrs. Howard and Miss Burke were the prize winners. The guests were Mesdames Wallace, Rice, Keith, Hanauer, Woodward, Woodruff, MacDonald, Harkness, Robert Harkness, Ferguson, Holmes, Boyd, Holman, Mrs. Jeune, Read, Haywood, Boggs, Bailey, Thompson, Irvine, Pfouts, Madam Pfouts, Mrs. Frank, Ferris, McClure, Baxter, Syer, Bradley, Smith, Channing, Lowe, McCornick, Bancroft, Pearsall, Howard, Fox, Nye, Downey, Faser, Goodwin, Kimball, L. Bailey, Post, Bransford, Harris, J. R. Walker, Charles Walker, Edwell, Spencer, Arthur Bird, E. S. Perry, W. M. Perry, the Misses Dorn, Miss Newton, Miss Webber, Miss Hanauer, Miss Lowe, mel, Art Hague, Ellis Fred, Robert Young, Wilford Moyle, Adrain Pembroke, Roscoe Breeden, Elliot Kimball, George Shepard, Max Brown, George Mathis, Lieutenant Berry, Wayne Hemphill, Sid Morris, Art Knowlton, Harold Eldridge, Fred Earls, Jack Merrill, Ben Tibbey.

Utopia Club.

Mrs. E. A. Wall entertained the Utopia club on Wednesday afternoon in regal style at her residence, 309 Brigham street. Carnations and ferns in profusion, artistically arranged, adorned the spacious hall, library and parlors. After the prizes at euchre were awarded Mrs. Harry Duke, Miss Edith Parker and Mrs. Ayres, an impromptu dance and cake walk for a brief half-hour was enjoyed by the assemblage, before dispersing. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. C. H. Brink, 123 N street, Feb. 12.

At Cards.

The party given by Mrs. A. T. Kerr last Monday afternoon in honor of Mrs. A. H. Tarbet, was one of the pleasant events of the week. The decorations were red, green and pink, the hall being a mass of red carnations, with smilax and fern intervenes. Pink was the prevailing color in the dining room, pink carnations with white being used. Prizes were won by Mrs. McGurkin, Mrs. Hanauer and Miss Edith Parker, while Mrs. Tarbet, the guest of honor, was presented with an elegant piece of cut glass.

Mrs. Read, Mrs. John Houghton, Miss Read and Miss Edith Parker assisted Mrs. Kerr.

A Dainty Luncheon.

Mrs. George M. Downey was the hostess at a most charmingly arranged luncheon in honor of Mrs. Pope of Denver, who is the guest of Mrs. O. J. Salisbury. The house was beautifully decorated in pink and green, the centerpiece being especially noteworthy. It was an exquisite piece of embroidered silk from Japan. Pink shades on candles in crystal candle sticks gave additional color. The guests were Mesdames Pope, Salisbury, Penrose, Bancroft, Woodward, McCornick, Faber, Hoyt Sherman, Young of Fort Douglas, Wallace and Rice.

Dancing Party.

One of the most delightful of home dancing parties was that given by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Ritter for their daughter, Elsie, last Thursday evening. The affair was in honor of the young lady's eighteenth birthday, and was charmingly arranged. The large double parlors were thrown open and covered with canvas, making a most excellent dancing hall. From the chandelier in the center of each room broad white satin ribbons, twined with smilax, were suspended to the four corners. An orchestra, stationed in the south window, furnished delightful dance music, to the strains of which the young people danced until a late hour. In the east room refreshments were served in buffet style, while the west room was used as a parlor. The whole house was beautifully decorated in green and pure white. The guests were the young friends of Miss Ritter.

At Luncheon.

Mrs. Stephen H. Babcock was the charming hostess at a delightful luncheon on Tuesday last. The dining room was darkened and red shades on globes and candelabra gave a sort of rose glow to the table and furnishings. A large bouquet of American Beauties formed the centerpiece, while at either end were placed vases of red carnations. The guests were: Mrs. D. S. Murray, Mrs. Jeune, Mrs. E. S. Perry, Mrs. R. H. Channing, Mrs. Duke Baxter, Mrs. Burns Macdonald, Mrs. Jay T. Harris, Mrs. J. R. Walker, Mrs. Robert Smith and the Misses Dooly and Lowe.

At Dinner.

A most delightful dinner was that for Major and Mrs. Downey last Tuesday evening at the Alta club. The affair was given in the green room and the decorations of bridesmaid roses were exquisite. An immense centerpiece of white roses graced the table, while around the vase were twined smilax and ferns. Each of the ladies was given a white rose as a favor. The place of the occasion was Mr. A. F. Holden and the guests were: Mrs. D. S. Murray, Mrs. Jeune, Mrs. E. S. Perry, Mrs. G. F. Downey, Miss Poch, Miss Winn, Mr. Pollock, Mr. Heintz and Mr. Wicks.

Matinee Party.

Major Egan entertained a party of ladies at a pleasant luncheon yesterday, followed by a box party at the matinee. The event was given at the Taverne, and the decorations were very beautiful. Red lanterns and red shades on the candelabra, with the bright red of the American Beauties, gave a delightful warmth of color. The guests of the afternoon were Mrs. Howell of Fort Douglas, and the Misses Bessie Niles, Maude Thorne, Sherman and Laura Sherman.
